LIGHT ON THE HOLDUP BUSINESS.

How the Saloons Harbor Criminals and Abet Crime in Ogden City.

DEATH OF WM. ECCLES, SEN.

W. R. Emmett Wins Election Contest -Has Three More Votes than His

Rival Mr. Driver-Personals. At the afternoon session of the municipal court the preliminary hearing of George H. Wells, charged with being mplicated in the hold-up of the Zang saloon on the night of Oct. 20, 1903, was taken up. The principal witness for the state was John Halling, the man arrested the night of the hold-up at the Ogden House by Officer Barlow Wilson. The witness testified that he was bern at Brigham City and lived there until he was 20 years of age. He then left his home and went east and worked around for about two years, returning to the west, and went to the coast, where he spent about five years, and then was sentenced to the Idaho and then was sentenced to the Idaho state prison, where he spent 21 months. He came to Ogden about the middle of October, where he met R. J. Hickey, or Dad, John Monroe, Furry or Dago, Nick, Quinney, Baine and Andrew Winberg. On the night of Oct. 17 Winberg. On the night of the was in the O. K. Saloon and got on he was in the O. K. Saloon and got on speaking terms with Mr. Wells, the speaking that evening. On Sunday defendant, that evening. On Sunday night, Halling was at the O. K. saloon again, and had a tulk with Wells, and told him he thought of going to Salt Lake City, as he was too well known ere in Ogden, and might get arrestd, whereupon Wells told Halling that f he wanted to stay in town and got arrested and was not caught right in the act he would furnish an alibi for him and if necessary get on the stand himself to prove the alibi. Monday himself to prove the alibi. Monday night the same gang was in the saloon and they decided on a "stick up" at the card room in the rear of Munsey's eigar store on Twenty-fifth street. That Halling, Nick and Winberg were to turn the trick. Two of the guns were furnished by Wells, and Monroe give one to Halling, and Wells gave agother to Winberg. When they got me to the card room, it was closed, by to the card room, it was closed, so they returned to the saloon. Tuesday night the gang met at the O. K. saloon again and planned the Zang hold-up. That evening Monroe went the bar and got two guns from els, which he gave to Halling and Mickey. Halling borrowed Baine's coat and Quinney's hat, and then Hall-ing, Nick, Furry and Hickey left the alon, went down to Wall avenue and p Twenty-fourth street to the sa-con, where they put red pocket handkerchiefs over their faces as masks.

Halling and Hickey entered at the back door and Furry and Nick by the front door. Halling held the gun on Mr. Bello, the proprietor of the saloon. Furry went through the cash till while the other two kept watch at the doors, and Nick went through Bello's pockets. They left the saloon by the front door and went across Grant avenue and back and went across Grant avenue and back of Thomas' store, where they turned down their coat collars and then went down Twenty-fourth street. They cached their guns and the watch back of Scowcroft's warehouse and then went o the O. K. saloon, entering by the ack door and were in the wineroom dividing the money when the officers came to the saloon. Monroe knocked the wall and the men skipped out of back door and went to the room in the Ogden house where they were afterwards found by Officer Wilson, and Hickey, Furry and Nick jumped out of the window and Halling, the witness, was caught.

Moon by the officers were produced in court, but Halling said he could not positively identify the guns, but said oked very similar to the ones ished them by Wells. Andrew E. Winberg was the next wit-He testified that he is a Southern Pacific fireman. That Monday evening, Oct. 19, the witness was at the O. K. saloon, where they planded the hold-up of the poker game at rear of Munsey's cigar store. Wells led a gun to Winberg, also cartdges and he with Nick and Halling vent up to turn the trick, but the closed. The witnes testified promised to furnish the alibi or them if arrested. He further testi-ed that Wells said he was going to fix lace in the rear part of the saloon so they could get them ead of at the bar. Winberg altestified that Wells gave him 5 cents next morning after the Zang holdnewspaper with, so they no was caught. That when his room, 131 Twenty-sixth treet, on Wednesday morning, he ound Hickey in his bed. His back was jurt from the jump out of the Ogden guns that were found in Wells'

Sheriff Joseph Bailey next took the witness stand and testified that a few days after the arrest of Wells he went to the O. K. saloon, where he found three guns and a red pocket handker-chlef under the bar. That Mr. Wells loid him two of the guns belonged to nen on the cut-off and one to him. This completed the evidence for the ution and the case was continued til this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when a defense will put in their evidence.' James Baine and John Monroe, the ther two men in custody on the same harge as Wells, have secured a change cenue in their case, on application of ir attorney, Soren X. Christensen, o also represents R. J. Hickey, the 1th defendant. It is expected that arth defendant. eir preliminary hearing will come up beginning of next week.

EMMETT WINS OVER DRIVER.

The contest of election brought by William Driver against W. Rollo Emmett for a seat in the Ogden city coun-cil for the next four years from the Fifth ward occupied the attention of Judge Rolapp all day yesterday and resulted in a decision in favor of Emmett, Democrat, by a majority of three. Mr. Driver was represented at the hearing by Judge A. R. Heywood and Mr. Emmett by Judge W. L. Maginnis. The ballots cast for Mr. Emmot were 563, and for Mr. Driver, 560, and and for Mr. Driver, 560, and the court decided that Mr. Emmett was the duly elected councilman. The council will therefore during the next two years have eight Republicans and two Democrats, Mr. Emmett and Max Davidson from the Fourth ward.

The Duchesne railway is a project of the St. Louis Gilson Asphaltum company, backed to a certain extent by the Denver & Rio Grande system, for getting the gilsonite product of the St. Louis concern to market cheaper than the present method of wagon transportation via Price. The road will first reach the White River mines of the company, just over the Colora-do line, and may eventually run into Vernal. The St. Louis company is paying out at this time about $85,000 a year to wagon freighters along the Price and Vernal road.

ST. JOHNS, ARIZONA ACADEMY WELL ATTENDED.

Water Storage the Salvation of the Country - Drainage Needed.

Special Correspondence. St. Johns, Apache Co., Arizona, Nov. 24.—The academy at this place is well attended and the pupils seem to have great confidence in the faculty. A goodly interest is manifested in the nissionary class. The St. Johns reservoir has water in it than ever before at this time of the year. The people begin work on the strengthening of the dam next Monday. They now have plenty of irrigation water in sight. Nothing as yet has been done to make a drain to carry of the mineral water that accumulates in stagnant pools and tends to hold the mineral in a swamp below the town. This drain question is one of importance to St. Johns, for if successful it would redeem all the land below the town that is now almost worthless on account of the mineral.

The breaking of this reservoir filled the new reservoir fur-ther down the river that has been constructed by President David K. Udall and others so it has plenty of water for the coming season. The work on this reservoir was undertaken under great difficulties and carried through to its completion by sheer pluck and perseverance and it now looks as though the undertaking was going to the a success, as the crops planted this year demon-strate. To the Public: The Executive Committee of the Board of Pardons will hold a regular cific feels compelled to call the attention of the public to the dangers to life and property from Christmas displays, decorations, signs, etc., in churches, public buildings, mercantile establishments, and especially department stores. The use of Christmas greens, harvest specimens and other inflammable material, such as scenery, cotton, to represent snow, and the like (especially in connection with electrical and other lighting systems), is decidedly an increase of hazard, it being impossible to make displays of that nature perfectly safe. One of the conditions of any insurance policy is that:
